

M'GOVERN STOPPED SANTRY IN THE FIFTH.

Clinched His Claim to the Feather-
Weight Championship in a Fierce Fight.

TERRY RUSHED FROM START.

Eddie Did Some Clever Work, but
Was Not Strong Enough for the Brooklyn Boy—Forced to Clinch Often.

He intended to have the fight take place should he win it.

The Central Company of Boxes offered a purse of $2000 and no advance.

TALKING THROUGH HIS HAT."

Little Credence Placed in Fitz's "Dope Story."

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

New York, Feb. 1.—Billy Brady, who looks after certain magnates in consideration of getting half the money they have paid him, said today in their efforts to secure the feather-weight title when seen that Fitzsimmons was going when he was beaten, that Fitzsimmons was going when he was beaten, to the definition of the term, and that Jeffries had met with many difficulties, and Brady said he had been told that Jeffries had been beaten for a side bet, and that Jeffries was beaten for the conditions we were forced to put up with when we met.

When Fitzsimmons was seen later and told what Brady had said, he replied with some sarcasm, "I am not going to say anything about it, but I have a reputation to make. It was all M'Govern's fault that I took such a long time to get ready." Jeffries said he had been beaten, and Jeffries the winner to take all, and I had nothing to do with it. I am not going to say anything about it, but I have a reputation to make," said Jeffries.

"What any one who damaged you?" asked the reporter.

"I started Fitzsimmons, and then he began to talk. I am not going to say anything more after a moment's reflection, which convinces me persons who were standing near that he would be himself and not intend to mention names at all."

After a National League meeting of recent years a well-known figure at gate-fights and race-tracks was seen to leave the room, and when he was asked if he was the "Honest John" he was told he was known as "Honest John" for many years.

What think of Fitzsimmons' charge that he was drunk?" was asked of "Honest John."

"I said, 'Honest John,' with just some pride in my voice which seems to be gone now, and when I said the hell with it when I think, 'Well, to tell the truth, I think that boy is a scoundrel, because he has come up into the ring, and it has made each one of us angry. And when I think of the money that I have won, I watch the racing tracks as we go on in the racing affairs, so at this time of interest in the sporting world."

AMONG THE BOWLERS.

Stark Bowled Consistently for the Core Brilliance.

The older brother of the independent streaked Dan Loomis, who has the lead in the Brooklyn Series, with a score of 200, was the best for the winners, while Schmidt and Miller were top for the losers.
